

For 14 days starting now,
I will make this silly vow.

It's not the kind that last forever,
But it's sure to make our marriage better!

A Covert Cupid is what I'll be
My mission: to spread Valentine's glee!

One act of kindness everyday
For that is the Covert Cupid way!

To show my love I'll play this game
Which is sure to keep our love aflame!

Sincerely Yours,
Cupid

Covert Cupid

A Valentine's Day Tradition!

Welcome to the Cupid Club! You have now officially signed you and your spouse up to be a Covert Cupid this February! The basic idea of a Covert Cupid is to secretly do an act of kindness for your spouse each day for the first 14 days of February. This activity will help you show some extra love to your spouse and remind them how much you really love and appreciate them!!

In order to prep this activity you will need to print off the Covert Cupid pack and cut out all of the printables. Depending on the printable you may need to print multiples of some of the pages so that you have the correct amount. Here is a list of the provided printables and how each one should be used:

RULES: This will need to be printed and posted in the house {possibly even framed} so that you can both see the rules for being a Covert Cupid!

IDEA LIST: This list will also be printed and posted up somewhere you can both see it so it can be referenced for ideas if either of you need them!

CARDS TO LEAVE AT THE SCENE: You will want to print off multiple copies of this page. {I would suggest printing the multiple pages so that there are plenty for you both to grab when you need one!} These will be placed out where you can both access them. It would be a great idea to put these, the rules printable and the idea list printable, and the countdown all in one place! These cards are to “leave at the scene” of where you did the act of kindness. If there isn't really a way to leave them the note with the act of kindness you could just leave one on their pillow to find that night. This way they still know that their Covert Cupid did something for them that day!

CHECK LIST: You will each get one of these on the first day to help you remember to do something every day.

INVITATION: This is an official invite to become a Covert Cupid for the next two weeks!!

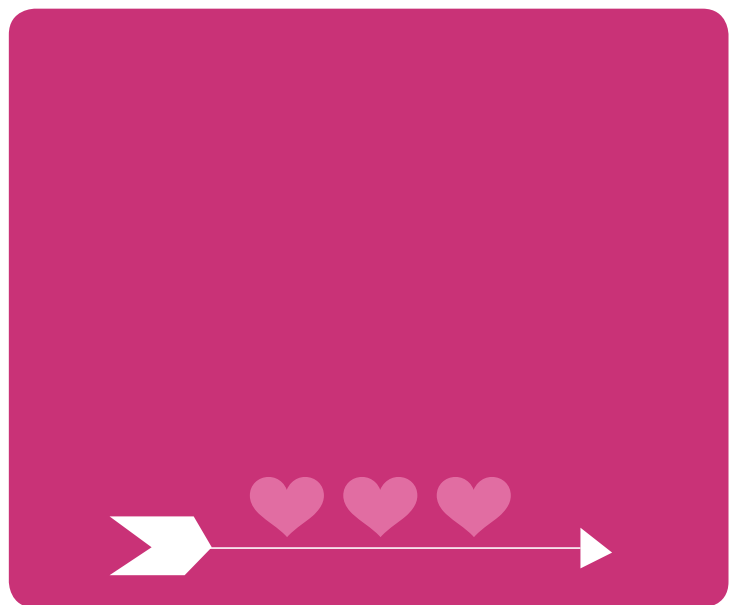

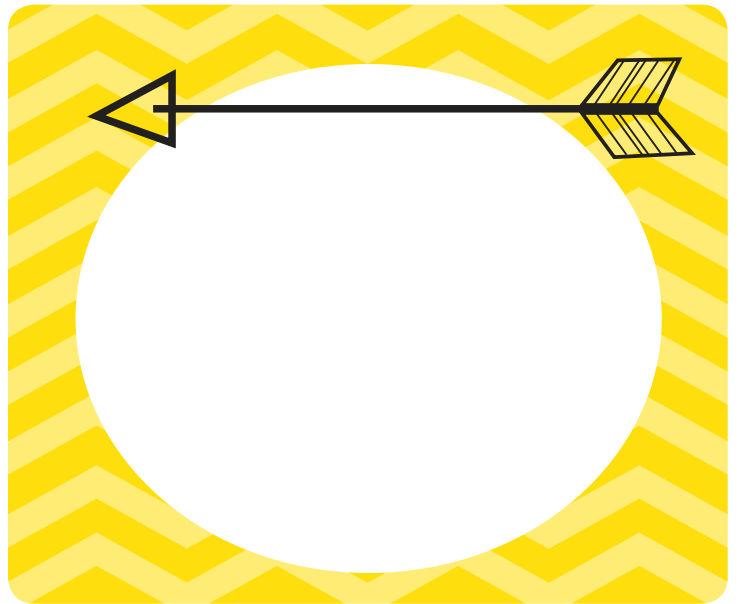

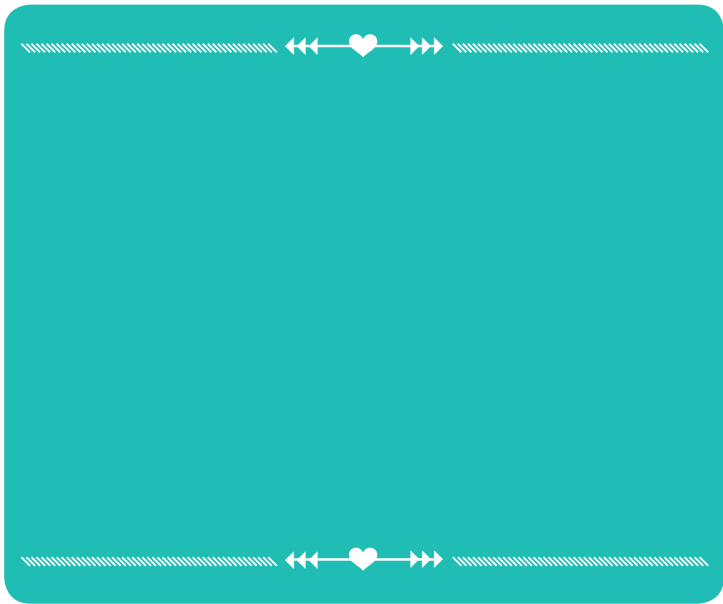

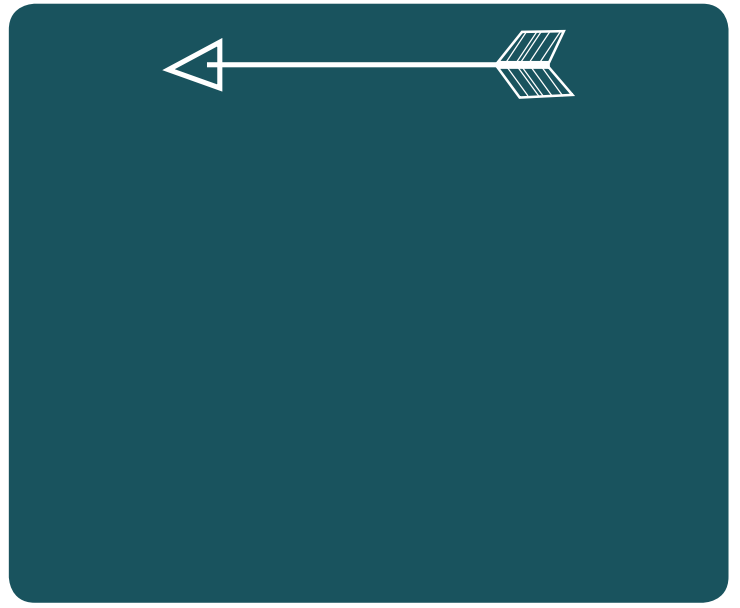

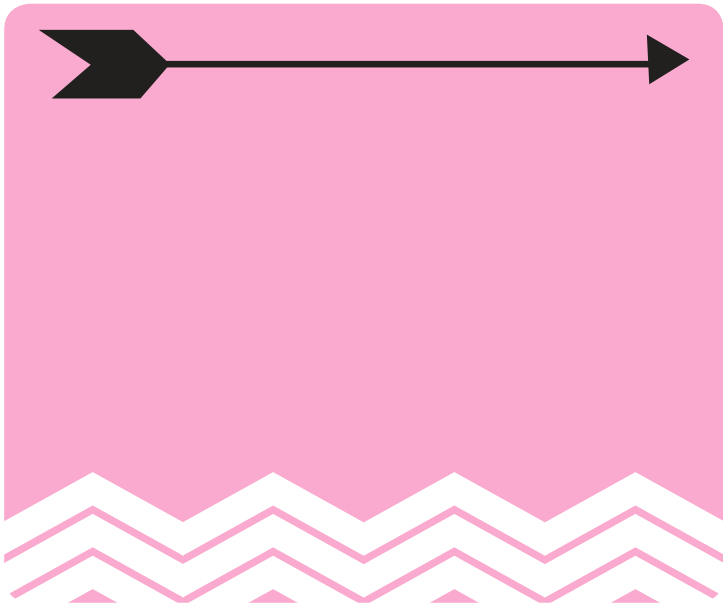

LOVE NOTES: Cute cards to write a message on! One of the options on the idea list is to write a love note to tell them what you love about them! This printable is provided for you to use for the love note!

COUNT DOWN: This printable is designed to help you count down the days until Valentine's. Once framed you can use a dry erase marker to write on the glass showing how many days are left until Valentine's!

Most of these can be reused from year to year, the only ones that would need to be reprinted each year are the love note cards and check lists.
